

The RAMS Horn

Monthly Recap

March in Review

March has been a very up and down month... if you look at the rain totals. Seems like we get a bunch of rain, it drains for a few days, and then more rain after that.

Below is the root river level after Tuesday, April 2nd. You can see this data at the following link: Root River Level

Also on March 15, the Remote ID rules have gone into effect after being delayed last September. Reminder, you do not need a Remote ID module to fly at the RAMS field. See more information at the FAA Website.
